

Newsletter: Aid cuts analysis | 2015 Pacific Update | Ravallion on global inequality and poverty

By Development Policy Centre
22 May 2015

Aid budget 2015

It was probably the most important budget ever for aid. Certainly the biggest cuts, and the biggest restructuring of the aid program in a single budget.

It certainly gave us a lot to talk about at our livestreamed annual breakfast aid forum the morning after the budget. If you missed it and want to catch up, the video is available here, presentations here and a podcast here.

You can read all our analysis here: the way the cuts fell across countries and organisations; the logic of the cuts, and its limits; the end of aid to Africa; the macroeconomic context; and the implications for equity.

2015 Pacific Update: call for papers

The Development Policy Centre, Asian Development Bank, and University of the South Pacific (School of Economics) are pleased to announce that the 2015 Pacific Update will be held on 15-17 July 2015, at the University of the South Pacific (USP), Laucala Campus, Suva, Fiji.

A call for papers [pdf] is currently open, with abstracts due by 31 May.

Dr Martin Ravallion on global inequality and poverty

Dr Martin Ravallion, formerly World Bank Research Director and now at Georgetown University, will be speaking on the topic of 'Global inequality: are the world's poorest being left behind?' in an event on 9 June (5.30pm-6.30pm, Crawford School). In his lecture, he will show there has been remarkably little progress in raising the world's consumption floor over the last 30 years, despite economic growth and greater social safety net coverage.

Register here.

Dr Ravallion will also be speaking at the 5th ACFID University Network Conference and at the Australasian Development Economics Workshop, both at Monash University next month.

Upcoming events

Global inequality: are the world's poorest being left behind?

Dr Martin Ravallion. Tuesday 9 June, 5.30pm – 6.30pm. Register here.

2015 PNG Update

18-19 June, University of Papua New Guinea. Details here.

2015 Pacific Update

15-17 July, University of the South Pacific, Suva. Details here.

Blog highlights

A round-up of our budget coverage

Anthony Clunies-Ross: a remarkable Australian

Australian aid exceptionalism

Was DFAT the only winner in last week's aid budget?

On the blog

PNG's foreign workforce is increasingly blue-collar by Carmen Voigt-Graf

Anthony Clunies-Ross: contributor to the common good by Ross Garnaut and John Langmore

Financing for development: this year's big debate by Matthew Morris

The mysterious case of the vanishing budget emergency by Anthony Swan

Beyond country programs in the 2015-16 aid budget: losers, non-losers, and a winner

by Jonathan Pryke, Camilla Burkot and Stephen Howes

Flaws in the glass: allocation quirks in the 2015-16 Australian aid budget by Robin Davies

Requiem for Australia's aid program in Africa by Joel Negin

Australian aid: the way we were by Stephen Howes

The same, the bad, and the ugly: country allocations in the 2015-16 budget by Matthew Dornan

PNG's March monetary statement: the good, the bad, and the unclear by Paul Flanagan

Aid to PNG: a long game by Stuart Schaefer

In brief

Weekend links: Malawi, PNG, graduating from poverty, remittances, hazard pay for Ebola workers, and the legacy of slavery

Violence in South Pacific has intergenerational impact: UNICEF report

Julie Bishop on the aid cuts: “fair and appropriate”

Powerful talk on family violence in Timor-Leste

Weekend links: TED talks, mobile coverage, NGOs in conflict, lotteries as HIV prevention, South Sudan, and more

2015 Pacific Update

Australian aid budget forum and coverage

Executions haven't changed opinions on Indonesia aid: poll

This is the fortnightly newsletter of the Development Policy Centre at Crawford School of Public Policy, The Australian National University, published every second Friday.

About the author/s

Development Policy Centre

Link: <https://devpolicy.org/newsletter-20150522/>

Date downloaded: 20 April 2024

Australian National University

The Devpolicy Blog is based at the Development Policy Centre, Crawford School of Public Policy, College of Asia and the Pacific, Australian National University.