

UPNG hiring round for economists, and more...

By Stephen Howes
25 September 2014

The University of Papua New Guinea is running another large recruitment round. UPNG is after economists - from lecturers all the way through to professor - and also other academics in the School of Business Administration, the School of Humanities and Social Sciences, and the School of Medicine and Health Sciences, as well as a large number of administrative staff, including 17 for the Information and Communication Technology Team. The closing date is October 3.

A list of the positions, and further contact details, can be found here [pdf]. Job descriptions for the economic positions are available to download as DOC files: lecturer/senior lecturer and associate professor/professor.

And if you want to know more about UPNG salaries, check out my working paper with Thomas Wangi.

About the author/s

Stephen Howes

Stephen Howes is Director of the Development Policy Centre and Professor of Economics at the Crawford School of Public Policy at The Australian National University.

Link: <https://devpolicy.org/upng-hiring-round-for-economists-and-more-20140925/>

Date downloaded: 3 May 2024

Australian
National University

The Devpolicy Blog is based at the Development Policy Centre, Crawford School of Public Policy, College of Asia and the Pacific, Australian National University.